RE: Planning Commission Survey
Date: March 17, 2010

Dear Town Citizens,

FYI - You've recently received a survey from the Town of Perdido Beach Planning Commission asking your opinion on various topics. The Planning Commission was asked by one of the Commissioners to conduct the survey and the motion passed. However, the idea of the survey didn't come from the Commission but from the Perdido Beach Property Owners and Residents Association.

In addition I've been told by an attorney with the League of Municipalities that the Town has no authority to conduct a non-binding referendum. For that reason the Planning Commission and the Town have withdrawn their involvement with the survey.

I don't wish for the Town to take credit or to be given credit for the survey - credit is entirely due to PBPORA.
